

Main data table containing a grid of numerical values for various parameters across multiple rows and columns.

